

How Gain.pro supports eevolve on its digitization journey

eevolve is a private equity firm active in Switzerland and the German-speaking region of Europe, founded in 2022 by a group of experienced professionals coming from both a private equity and entrepreneurial background. The firm is a growth partner for profitable and scalable business models in services and software, healthcare, and smart industrials. Apart from people and organization, sustainability and buy-and-build, digitization is a crucial driver of eevolve's value creation approach.

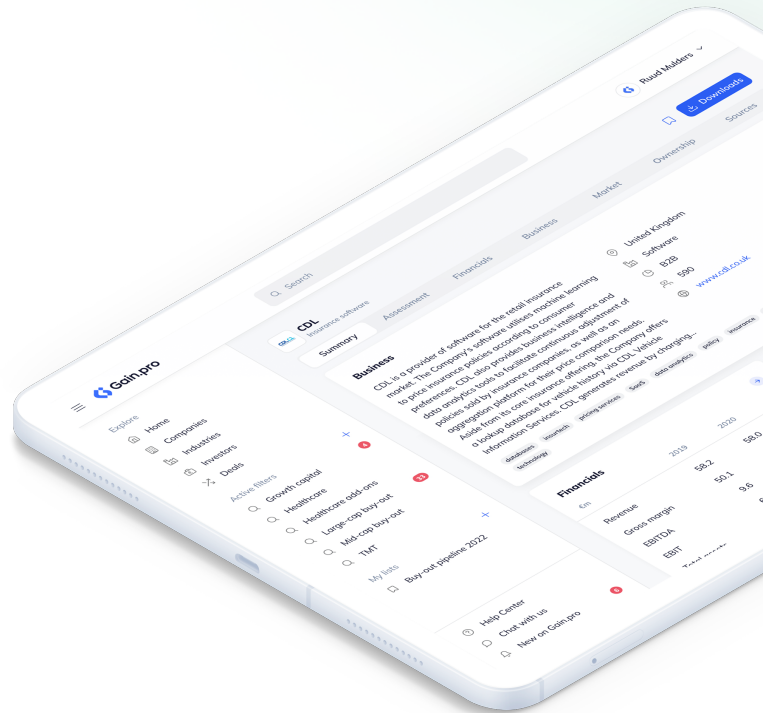

Becoming a leading private equity firm with the help of Gain.pro

"Technology has always been a crucial aspect of our operations, as leveraging digital tools allows us to increase efficiency in tedious manual work. With our time savings, we can focus our talents on more value-add tasks that help us develop our competitive edge. We have always understood the significant benefits of utilizing technology, having implemented and enforced the adoption of CRM from the very first ignition of our firm. So when founding eevolve, we wanted to develop a best-in-class tech-stack right from the start.

"We had the unique opportunity of building our tech-stack from scratch, so we procured our digital tools ensuring they addressed our specific needs and use cases. When it came to origination and market visibility, we needed a platform with the most reliable, high quality information on the industries and companies within our investment scope. We also wanted full visibility of our peers – their fund's strategies, active holdings, and potential exists.

"Ultimately, we chose Gain.pro as the ideal solution for its high quality information, very reliable assurance process, and all its up to date data that's ready for our use. They also list all of their sources, offering full transparency in their research.

"The platform's impressive deal sourcing capabilities also played a key role when we were deciding on a private market intelligence solution. Gain.pro notifies us every time a new company falls within our sweet spot criteria, allowing us to identify and track a broader range of investment opportunities in record time.

"It was exactly the right decision to adopt Gain.pro in the early stage of our journey. The platform has not only saved us precious time, but has enhanced our deal origination efforts. As we transition into deal mode, Gain.pro becomes even more powerful for us, especially with the recent additions that provide strong coverage of smaller businesses in difficult to capture markets such as Switzerland. We highly recommend Gain.pro's solution to anyone in the private equity industry looking for an edge in sourcing and analyzing potential investments."

Ueli Eckhardt
Managing Partner at eevolve

See what Gain.pro can do for your team

<https://gain.pro/app/company/contact/trial>

